
Where Princess Twilight Sparkle and her friends gather in the Enchanted Meadow, a place filled with magic and friendship, they find a hidden corner where the wildflowers grow taller than anywhere else. From this spot, the unicorns and pegasus can see the whole valley spread out below them, dotted with cottages and gardens. The sun rises over the hills and paints the sky in shades of pink and gold, and the ponies know that it is time to begin their morning work. Some will carry baskets of apples to the market, others will fly high to check the weather, and others will simply stand together and watch the world wake up. This coloring page invites you to add your own colors to the scene, to give each pony a name and a story, and to imagine what they will do when the day ends and they return to their homes beneath the stars.
