

Canis lupus familiaris

Canis lupus familiaris is a species of dog in the family Canidae. It is the only member of the genus Canis that has been domesticated by humans. The domestic dog is a member of the family Canidae, which also includes the wolf, coyote, and jackal. The domestic dog is a member of the family Canidae, which also includes the wolf, coyote, and jackal.