

18454

Used film racks by which to store film reels. Each rack is designed to hold a certain number of reels and is made of a material that is resistant to fire and theft. The racks are usually made of metal and are available in a variety of sizes and shapes. They are usually used in a film studio or in a film archive.

